Poll-bound states depend on Centre for development states - Tripura, Nagaland, and Meghalaya – are heavily dependent on the Centre for the development work as their own tax revenues contribute less than one-third of their total taxes. The bulk of borrowed funds mainly goes into revenue expenditure in the three states that will go to the polls next month Unemployment remains Nagaland. In line with er states, inflation remains a worry in Tripura and Nagaland. though Meghalaya has controlled it a bit more efficiently.
